[COMMUNICATED. therewith enclose you our article from City, which the public may find useful in coving "in point of fact," how far John Brown is governed by that Golden Rule for which he is about to suffer "martyrdom" Very truly-A FRIEND.

JOHN BROWN'S LAST SPEECH-TRUE HIS-The telegraph yesterday gave the ast speech of John Brown before sentence of path was passed upon him. Its mildly drawn tone, and overflowing benevolence of sentiment will no doubt call forth a perfet orrent of saline tears from the sympathising spinsters in short clothes, and tomes d lachrymatory homilies from the "white hkered" shrickers of the anti-slavery pulli will also be seen that his hardihood, andoubted nerve, and "golden rule" cant has had its effect upon a brave and chivalric people, and despite his cases of Sharp's rifles, people, and revolvers and bundles of pikes, they have given him the benefit of the last day the laws of Virginia allow, before his life will be demanded as the forfeit of his

But while we are glad to see this for the honor and magnanimity of Virginia, yet the country should not forget the past, nor be led away by the cant of this professional It is too industriously circulaand and heralded by the Black Republican press, that "Brown has become a maniac from the wrongs suffered at the hand of the siave power in Kansas;" and many good peonle are disposed to look with less horror uphis crimes from that cause.

There is not a word of truth in all this .-On the contrary, the first murders ever committed in Kansas were by this same John Brown-the horrible massacre of Potowato-mie creek. That we may not be charged with prejudies we give the proof from the Herald of Freedom, at Lawrence, the first anti-slavery paper ever published in Kansas, and whose alter is as familiar with Kansas history and the men who figured in it, as any man in the

In the issue of that paper for October 29. 1859, in speaking of John Brown, and the plea put in for his course, it says:

lie singled out, with himself, a party of seven men. These he marched to a point eight miles above the mouth of Pottawatomie creek, and called from their beds at their several residences, at the hour of midnight on the 24th of May, Allen Wilkinson, Wm. Sherman, Wm. P. Doyle, Wm. Doyle, and Drury Doyle. All were found the next morning by the roadside, or in the highway, some with a gash in the heads and side, and their throats cut; others with their skulls split open in two places, with holes in their breasts, and hands cut off; and others had holes through their breasts with their fingers cut of. No man in Kansas has pretended to deny that Old John Brown led that murderous foray, which massacred those men. Up to that period not a hair of Old John Brown's head, or that of any of his sons, had been injured by the Pro-slavery party.

It was not until the 30th of August, three months after the Pottawatomie massacre, that the attack was made on Ossawatomie by the pro-slavery forces, and Frederick Brown, a on of old John, was killed. The truth of history requires this statement. If Brown was a monomaniae, it dates back unterior to his first visit to Kan-

This is testimony that none can dispute, and which every resident in this country at the time, knows to be true. Not only did this man do this, but he forced his children to participate in the bloody deed; and one of his sons, as we have been reliably informed, is to-day a real maniac in consequence of the horrors of that night, in which his father compelled him to share.

And for this massacre he had not even the pro-slavery excuse, as a portion of the killed were free-state men, particularly old Allen Wilkinson, and their only offence was that, like thousands of good citizens, they would not join Brown in his "crusade for freedom." It is this red-handed murderer of innocent men, this mutilator of butchered citizens, who is now sniveling, with a halter about his neck, over the "golden rule," and whiteing about his mission of "doing unto others as he would wish others to do unto him."

Correspondence. COURT HOUSE, ALEXANDRIA.

November 25th, 1859. Hon. John W. Tyler:

Dear Sir:—The members of this Bar avail hemselves of the opportunity thus to express to you their high appreciation of the courtesy, ability, and impartiality with which you have discharged your duties as Judge of this Judicial Circuit. They beg leave, also, to express their gratification, that, in answer to the letter of the gentlemen of the Fairfax Bar, you have expressed a willingness to permit your name to be used as a candidate Yours, respectfully, for re-election. ALEXANDRIA, Nov. 26, 1859. Genilemen:-I have received your favor the 25th inst., and am gratefully impressed by the sentiments of approbation and confience it communicates. The duties of a Judge of this Circuit are varied, arduous, and delicate. But my burden has been lightened, and my path made smooth, by the aid and indulgence of an intelligent and enlightened Bar throughout the entire Circuit, and by the cultivation of friendship and good feeling in official as well as social intercourse. I can never recur to these associations but with unfeigned pleasure and satisfaction. I am, with sentiments of regard and friendship, your obedient servant, JOHN W. TYLER. To Chris'r, Neale, and others, members of the Bar of the Circuit Court of Alexandria

DIED.

At eight minutes before 5 o'clock on Saturday morning, at his residence in the city of Baltimore, in the 54th year of his age, the Hon. ZACCHEUS COLLINS LEE, Judge of the Supreme Court of that city. This melancholy event will sadden many hearts in Washington, where Judge LEE had long resided before his removal to Baltimore. He was a gentleman of high integrity and honor, of a kind heart, of fine talents, and had acquired an extensive reputation as an eloquont and effect tive public speaker. For some months before his death, his health had been impaired; but the immediate iliness which proved tatal was of only a ew days duration. He has been taken from us in the prime of life, and in the midst of a career of public usefulness, to the deep affliction of his be-reaved family and friends, and the regrets of the community of which he was an esteemed and hon-

POTOMAC LODGE, No. 38, 1, 0, 0, F .- Your Committee beg leave to state that the prompt and fraternal action of "Madison Lodge, No. 25. Huntsville, Alabama," in attending to the remains of our late brother, Ww. L. Colton, deserves our warmest thanks and gratitude. In contemplating this sad bereavement, we are consoled with the knowledge that true and fraternal friends and brothers clustered around his remains, and poured the balm of sympathy into the heart of the lone and disconsolate widow, and evinced that she was surrounded by those who acknowledge and practice the great and effective principles of "Friendship, Love, and Truth." Whereas, it has pleased God, in the dispensation of his will, to remove from this earth our late brother, W. L. COLTON, we humbly submit. During his life he was endeared to us by every tie of ar Order, as well as by that of human restitude; triend, true and unwavering; as a brother, prompt and sympathetic; as an Engineer, active and vigilant.
